

Former Diem Advisor Speaks Leads Panel On Viet Nam

Fr. deJaegher addresses the students.

By Leo Leider

Fr. Raymond deJaegher, once confidant of the Diem family spoke Tuesday night in the playhouse as a member of the Student Forum lecture series. He discussed the Asian, and particularly Vietnamese situations in detail.

Viet Nam is a culture Chinese, Indian and French in origin. A great deal of the customs of the Vietnamese are identical with those of the Chinese people. This is due to the fact that China ruled Viet Nam more than a thousand years at one time. The French influence, which can be found today in Viet Nam, resulted from Viet Nam's being a protectorate of France.

Early in the 1950's, a group of nationalists fought French troops for a completely independent Viet Nam. This group was led by Ho Chi Minh and fought in the name of Nationalism, not Communism.

In 1954, the French agreed Geneva, to separate the country into two parts. The north would be ruled by the Communists, who, at that time, were strong enough to wage war in the name of Communism, and the southern part was given to the forces loyal to France. Later in 1954, President Diem took control of South Viet Nam.

Nationalism had been used as a basis for a Communist take over of the north. Therefore, the war in the south was not a war of liberation, since south Viet Nam had its own independent government. It was, in fact, a war of aggression by the north against South Viet Nam.

President Diem did not sign the Geneva agreement of 1954. This agreement specified free elections to take place in North and South Viet Nam in 1956. An International Control Commission was to supervise these elections.

Instead, President Diem wanted the United Nations to supervise free elections in Viet Nam with a security force to insure their integrity.

These elections never took place because Communist North Viet Nam would not agree to them.

According to the Geneva Agreement, the people were to be given a choice of living in the north under Communism or under President Diem. Some 800,000 people chose to leave for South Viet Nam and only a few hundred thousand left South Viet Nam to live under Communist rule.

President Diem was a strong leader of the South Vietnamese; he defeated three warring factors to unite the country. The Communists were hoping he would fail in his attempt to bring about stabilized government, but, Diem made the government stable.

The Communists, to gain control of the South, would have to overthrow the government through Gurilla Warfare. The Communist infiltrated South Viet Nam by three different means; the Ho Chi Minh Trail; the Mekong River and the South China Sea surrounding South Viet Nam.

Arms and men infiltrated the south by these routes and fought against government troops. South Viet Nam lost more than 10,000 men each year in fighting this gurilla war.

Since 1954, the United States has been helping South Viet Nam fight this aggression from the North. The United States supplied weapons and advisors

President's Report Lists Six Projects

The annual report of the president of St. Michael's College notes with satisfaction the completion and consecration of the $926,000 chapel, the plans for the $1,194,000 library to be started in the Spring, and the financial and educational growth of the college.

In a report mailed to alumni and friends of St. Michael's, the Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E. lists six projects the college would like to undertake as soon as possible. The chapel and library expenses will, he said, cause a wait "unless we receive a considerable gift from a source unknown at the present. We shall exercise patience and look to the future with confidence."

The projects, costing about $2,000,000, which will follow the library include:

1: a combination classroom and faculty office building, costing at least $500,000;

2: a rehabilitation of former Air Force base buildings for the housing of the Program of English for Foreign Students, about $300,000;

3: gymnasium improvements at the Air Base, plus other recreational facilities, about $200,000;

4: rehabilitation of the theatre and former chapel at the Air Force Base for the Fine Arts Department, about $150,000;

5: playing fields and perhaps a golf course, $300,000;

6: new student dormitories, about $500,000.

St. Michael's is using dormitory space at the old Ethan Allen Air Base and some seniors are living off campus because of increased enrollment. Applications increased 30 per cent during the year, but enrollment in the four year program could be increased only four per cent.

Special programs, however, were so popular that the college had to create the Office of Extension Services, under Dr. Robert J. Girous.

The naming of Rev. Dr. Joseph L. Hart, S.S.E. as academic dean, of Rev. Paul A. Morin, S.S.E. as rector of the chapel, are among other administrative changes noted.

The development of the faculty, the more than tripling of college assets in 10 years, and the intense interest by students in the college program and in special conferences and workshops are also listed by Fr. Dupont.

Fr. Dupont's final word is about the students, "the most important part of any college and the reason for its existence."

$200 Tuition Increase Due; Still Below State Average

Like many other colleges, St. Michael's is raising tuition costs this year.

Tuition will go up $200 to $1350 for the fiscal year 1966-67. The residence fee, covering room and board, will remain at $850. It will be $50 less for those on the Ethan Allen campus.

The same library fee of $50 and an Accident and Health fee of $50 will make the total basic fee $2300 against the current $2085.

Notices of the new schedule approved by the trustees are being sent to parents this week.

Tuition discounts for brothers studying at the same time at St. Michael's remain the same. The full fee is paid for the first son. There is a remission of $200 for the second brother and $400 for the third brother.

St. Michael's will also increase tuition for extension, graduate and summer session courses. The fee will be $27.50 per credit hour instead of $25. Other fees for these courses will remain the same.

Of the 13 private colleges in Vermont, only three have a lower tuition and fee figure than St. Michael's, according to the New England Board of Higher Education.

The state average is $1541. They range from $600 at Trinity and St. Joseph the Provider colleges to $2700 at Green Mountain. Norwich is $1510 and Middlebury $1600 as of this year.

Delta Epsilon Sigma Men Named At Awards Dinner

The 19 top ranking Seniors at St. Michael's College have been elected to membership in Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national Catholic honors society.

Their election of Alpha Nu Chapter at St. Michael's was announced at the Senior Awards Dinner. President of the Chapter is the Rev. Moses B. Anderson, S.S.E.

Dean's list students were also show great promise of intellectual growth are chosen by the chapter members. They will be installed in the chapter after the Christmas holidays.

Stonehill Radio Staff Compares With WSSE

By Joseph Morrissey

Many changes have taken place as WSSE starts the new year.

Thursday night a new program, entitled "Issues," made its debut. The subject discussed was "Morality and Civil Disobedience."

The program is the first of a four tape series featuring Antioch College, Antioch, O.

All of the tapes are provided by the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System. Three other tapes will be heard in the near future.

Sunday night, Jan. 9, "Counterpoint" had two students from Stonehill College. Hank Dannemann, station manager, and Bob Richard, program director, of station WSTO, Stonehill College, North Easton, Mass.

They compared the relationship between two similar college radio stations.

Other topics discussed were programming, budgeting, standards and what each job entails. With the cooperation of WSSE, Stonehill was able to send the SMC-Stonehill basketball game home. On the show, Stonehill spoke of a $1700 budget appropriated directly from the administration which enabled them to broadcast the away games at Merrimack, Norwich and St. Michael's.

WSSE station manager Jerry McDonald said, "In years previous, WSSE has been fortunate

Dr. Graveline Scheduled To Speak Here

Dr. Duane Graveline, who worked with the astronauts before becoming head of the Vermont State Health Department's heart program, will speak at St. Michael's College Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 7.

Dr. Graveline who has his bachelor's degree from the University of Vermont earned his M.A. in 1955 and got his medical degree from John Hopkins University. He interned at Walter Reed Hospital before joining the staff of NASA.

ONE WHO CARES

The highly informative visit of Fr. Raymond de Jaegher should serve as a fitting backdrop to a continuing re-assessment of the Viet Nam War.

If anything, we should be more aware than ever that words like "democracy", "liberty", "aggression", "nationalism" and even "communism" may acquire very different overtones when viewed in the Viet Nam context.

The continuing struggle requires an intense effort to master political subtleties and to place ourselves in some very unaccustomed frames of reference. There must be a balance between justice and the means undertaken to achieve it.

While I cannot agree with all of Fr. de Jaegher's statements, particularly his call for a South Vietnamese invasion of the North, nevertheless, as a deeply committed, highly intelligent, and extremely appealing personality he merits a salute of praise and thanks.

STUDENT FORUM

The Drill Team was granted permission Tuesday night by the Student Forum to solicit funds on campus.

The team has been invited to march in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade, and to afford to go, they must have more money than their budget allows, Keith Maloney, commander of the team said.

Maloney made the presentation to the Forum, and explained they will need about $400 to make the trip. The motion was passed.

Joseph DesBarres, Forum Treasurer said the budget balance now stands at approximately $2,500, from which the second semester club budgets must come.

James Flynn moved that student directories be mimeographed, not printed in the future to expedite delivery and to cut costs. The motion was tabled for study of the matter through Fr. Stankiewicz's office.

Joseph McNeil asked, as a point of information, for an explanation of the ultimate intentions of the administration about athletics and the money used to support them. Fr. Stankiewicz explained the school hopes, someday, to build a field house, but now, because of financial shortages, intend to refurbish the Fort Ethan Allen gymnasium for use as our home court.

Stephen Reynes asked that the Junior class be permitted to have a dance after the class movie on Feb. 25. Fr. Stankiewicz spoke against the motion, explaining the bishop allows only one dance during Lent, and it has been scheduled for the St. Patrick's Day weekend. The motion was withdrawn.

Denis Hauptly moved that William Costello and John DiGiulin be allowed to sell a package bus and lift ticket on campus. The motion was passed. This will provide bus transportation to Madonna Mt. any weekend there is enough support to charter the bus.

Joseph DesBarres asked for and was granted permission to form a committee of two to study the early publication of a booklist each year for the benefit of those who want to buy their books at home.

Robert Weigand announced that after a conference with Father Hart, it was decided travel day for next year's Christmas vacation will be one day later than normal, thereby alleviating travel difficulties for students. Travel day for Thanksgiving, he said, will be likewise delayed if the extra day can be worked into the schedule.

Exhibit To Feature Healy

St. Michael's College next Invitational Art Exhibit will feature 29 of the water colors and paintings of Arthur K.D. Healy of Middlebury College. It will be held Jan. 17-24 in Alliot Hall.

In announcing the exhibit, Dr. William Tortolano, chairman of the Fine Arts Department, said the Healy will show a number of the water colors he created during his recent trip to Ireland.

Arthur Healy, known as an architect, teacher, author, painter and sportsman, is represented in collections throughout this country as well as in England, Italy and Ireland. He has frequently won prizes with his work.

He has exhibited in the Chicago and Brooklyn International Water Color Exhibitions and also in that of the Whitney Museum. His work may be found in the collection of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the Portland, Me. Museum, the New Britain Art Museum, The Canajoharie Museum, the Addison Museum of American Art at Andover, Mass., the Fleming Museum at Burlington, Vt. and in art museums at Bennington, Vt., St. Petersburg, Fla., Kansas City and Harvard University.

Red-Bloc Religion Dialogue

Bozell - Fr. Dupont

Dear Mr. Buckley:

I have received a number of copies of your discussion in the syndicated column "On the Right with Buckley" of the "Conference on Religion in the Communist Bloc Countries," which took place at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vermont on November 8 -9, 1965.

One of these came from a man in California who said: "Would you please enlighten us, and Mr. Buckley, as to just what your opening address and the forum really meant?"

The general position of St. Michael's College is that in our age the students should be exposed to liberal as well as conservative opinions from the men who hold them, so that they can more effectively apply the principles they are learning. There should be no need of enlightenment in this particular case, if the conference had been reported more objectively.

I know how difficult it is for an extremist to take an objective view of any reality. But he is under some obligation not to change reality so as to set up a distortion which he can then attack. This I am afraid you have done in the column I referred to.

The article by Mr. L. Brent Bozell which appeared in the National Review of December 14, 1965, and which provided the ammunition which you used is so full of inaccurate judgments that it would take too long to discuss it in this letter. I don't think I am mistaken when I say that Mr. Bozell was invited to the conference by a very small group of conservative Young Americans for Freedom. He was given courteous treatment and was allowed free discussion with the leaders of the conference as well as with the students. I was therefore a little surprised at his negative reaction, particularly as in my talks with him he gave no hint at all of his true feelings.

You write in your article that this was "a most extraordinary forum." To most of us at St. Michael's it was not too extraordinary and apparently the local newspapers did not see it in that light either. What may, in your mind, have made it extraordinary is your quotation of something I was supposed to have said. You write: "But the President of St. Michael's opened the conference by saying: 'In the spirit of the Vatican Council, we are developing a deeper understanding of all religions. We look, therefore, with keen sympathy and hope toward recent efforts to improve the religious aspirations of millions of people of different faiths.'" You continue immediately: "The key question, of course, is whether the good father had in mind that Communists too are men of religious aspirations, who are merely of different faith, and should be treated like religious schismatics rather than like hostile barbarians. There would appear to be little doubt, under the circumstances, that he thinks of them as in the former category."

Very clever, Mr. Buckley! First you give the impression that I spoke the above words at the conference. Mr. Bozell had reported, in his article: "While waiting that evening for the introduction of the keynoter, I noted that the program we had been handed at the door contained a message of greeting from St. Michael's President..."

I can hardly believe that you would confuse a message of greeting in a program, from which your quotation was taken, with a spoken introduction to the conference. As a matter of fact, I was not even present for the first conference. But why did not Mr. Bozell (and you) quote the sentence that appeared immediately after the one you did quote? I wrote: "Our appreciation of the religious situation of so many people must spring from an understanding of the facts." This was the whole purpose of the conference -- to ascertain some facts from people who were well prepared to discuss different points of view.

Reverend Joseph Macha, S.J., who had replaced Reverend Robert Graham, S.J., Associate Editor of America, who could not come because of illness, Mr. Ferenc Nagy, who had had a lot of bitter experience with the Communists, and Dr. Kenneth S. Latourette, who is considered an authority on China, could certainly have been conceived as good foils to the liberals, Dr. Harold J. Berman and Dr. Robert V. Daniels, and to the Communist, Mr. Zygmunt Broniarek.

Although this was not noted by Mr. Bozell, the guests of the College and the students, who turned out in great number, did acquire a good number of facts from the talks as well as from class discussions with some of these men during the two days. "The little Christians who stood at (Mr. Broniarek's) feet" were not seduced by the rosy picture he painted of religion in Poland. Many of them were disappointed that he had not made a stronger address.

Another clever trick of reporting, Mr. Buckley, was to analyze the opening speech of Dr. Daniels, in which he made much of the superficial parallels between Communism and Catholicism. I for one do not support such a comparison, but Dr. Daniels was free to present his point of view. To follow up this analysis with the statement: "But the president of St. Michael's...etc." would seem to indicate that I upheld Dr. Daniels' thesis. Since I had not seen his paper before I wrote my remarks, the latter should not be taken as in any way related to remarks of Dr. Daniels. I should perhaps resent your insinuations in the following paragraph that I look upon Communists as being simply "religious schismatics." This would be stretching naive to its breaking point, don't you think?

In February, 1961, you spoke to our students, Mr. Buckley, and there was a large turnout. Your provocative lecture stimulated their minds and made them alert to the problems of society. I doubt, however, that you made many converts to your point of view.

By offering them a conference on a topic such as "Religion in the Communist Bloc Countries" and by presenting as diversified a group of panelists as we could find, including a "live Communist," we sought to stimulate them also. I think many of them saw Communism in a much clearer light than would have been the case had we had a lecture on its evil nature. I doubt any of them changed their fundamental beliefs as a result.

Sincerely yours,

Very Reverend Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E.
President

The Dec. 14 National Review carried a study by L. Brent Bozell of St. Michael's Conference on Religion in the Communist Bloc Countries.

Bozell cites Fr. Dupont's "brief but in the context, startlingly ecumenical," greeting on the program as perhaps a bit too "ecumenical."

Dr. Robert Daniels' relating of both Communism and religion as "faith movements," was accused of making the differences between them "illusory."

Fr. Joseph Macha, S.J.'s remarks, calling Communism intrinsically wrong, earned from Bozell, "eternal credit."

Bozell inferred from Dr. Harold Berman's speech an approval of Daniels' paper, and awarded the Harvard Law scholar a like degree of criticism.

Ferenc Nagy's speech pleased Bozell, although the Hungarian's scope was supposedly restricted, and did not lend itself to recommendations about how the Church might treat tormentors in the future.

Zygmunt Broniarek, our "real, live Communist," drew few comments. He was simply left to his own absurdities.

Dr. Kenneth Latourette, the China expert, was termed "tedious."

Bozell concluded: "Something was changing, and indeed had changed in the past 20 years concerning Catholic educators. The teaching of Catholic educators 20 years ago was in tune with the prayer that used to be said to St. Michael after the Catholic Mass, invoking his aid in the battle for souls behind the Iron Curtain. Today, the official voice of St. Michael's (College) had a quite different sound."

Fr. Dupont's reply to William Buckley is at the right.

Viet Nam

"The Communists tried to create several factions in the country to weaken the government. Early in 1963, the Communists infiltrated the Buddhists Organization. They succeeded in making it appear that President Diem was persecuting the Buddhists. This led to Diem's assassination. It was later proved by an investigation of the United Nations, that Diem did not persecute the Buddhists as had been stated and assumed by Henry Cabot Lodge," United States Ambassador to Viet Nam.

He withdrew U.S. support for Diem and gave his consent to a coup conducted by Generals of the Armed Forces against President Diem. This led to the downfall of stable government in South Viet Nam, and the death of President Diem.

"The whole world," said Father de Jaegher, "is waiting to see if the U.S. will live up to its commitment to defend South Viet Nam from Communists Aggression. The Vietnamese people are heroes in the sense that they have been fighting for more than 20 years against Communism. If the U.S. saves Viet Nam, then all of South East Asia will be saved from Communism. You must defeat Communism or be defeated by Communism."

"If the United States negotiates with the North Vietnamese, we will loose South Viet Nam to the Communists. The victory of the war in Viet Nam will be a victory for the entire free world."

"The United States can defeat the Vietcong without worrying about Chinese intervention, at this time."

Colby Falls To Knights, 72-68; Stonehill Next Victim, 82-74

By Bob Benigno

The Purple Knights chalked up their seventh win of the season last Tuesday night, defeating Colby College of Maine by a score of 72-68. This was the Knights' second decision of the year over the Mules, having beaten them in the AIC Tournament over Christmas.

Down by as many as 12 points midway through the first half, Ed Markey's hoopsters rallied for 10 straight points to post a 33-31 lead at intermission.

The second half was mainly a display of the Mules chasing the Knights. Colby standout Pete Swartz kept his team in the game with clutch outside shooting. Dick Falkenbush proved to be St. Mike's mainstay as he tallied 21 points to grab second honors in that department behind Swartz who ended up with 23. Jim Dooley played one of his best games of the year, hitting a season's high of 14 points, 10 of them in the second half.

With the count 63-55 at the five minute mark, the Saints went into a slow down offense and waited for the good shot. Veteran Bob Kryger hit for some clutch deuces as the Knights wrapped it up at the buzzer, 72-68.

Threats at a Colby comeback in the closing minutes were nullified by the great defensive play of Sophomore Ralph Coleman. Bob Joyce demonstrated his skill off the boards, coming up with a game's high of 17 rebounds.

STONEHILL

By Ron Tenaglia

The Stonehill Chieftains invaded the Memorial Auditorium last Saturday only to go down to defeat at the hands of the Purple Knights by a score of 80-74. There was no question from the outset that the Knights were outmanned with the Chieftains frontcourtmen averaging almost 6'5" and rounding off a 190 lbs. Previous to their bout with the Purple and Gold the Stonehill five had dropped a contest with the Cadets from Norwich, and the Knights were up for this one to prove they were still No. 1 in their home state.

Stonehill's high scoring Sophomore ace, Ron Richard, had been averaging 29.5 up until that night. Richard was held to one field goal and a total of eight points on the night. A rugged SMC defense spearheaded by Bobby Kryger, Jim Dooley and Dick Falkenbush held the starting Stonehill front-courtmen to 32 points, while SMC's 'falcon', Dick Falkenbush, poured on 28 himself to take top honors on the scoring. Another Dick watching from the sidelines, Dick Tarrant might have noticed some fine moves on the part of the 6'4" Junior, similar to those he made famous at the Auditorium not long ago.

The Knights opened up fast in the first half and pulled out to a swift 10-6 lead in the opening minutes. The Chieftains came back to deadlock the game at 21, all midway through the first half. Then the SMC defense slacked and the Chieftains were out front 33-26. This was Stonehill's high point for the night with two fine guards, Hampel and Maher, leading the attack. By the half time the Knights battled to a slim 41-39 lead once again. The second half saw the Knights jump out to a ten point lead by the midway mark, 60-50, and from there on in some cautious ball handling sewed up for the Purple Knights. It was a hard fought game for the Knights, and with four men in double figures, it was surely a team victory; the 'falcon', Dick Falkenbush, pouring on 28, followed by Bob Kryger's 16, Jim Dooley's 14, and Bob Joyce's 11.

Juniors Set The Pace In Interclass B-Ball

By Swede Holbrook

The Interclass Basketball League has again swung into action following the Yuletide holidays and the league-leading Juniors have picked up right where they left off before the three week layoff.

The Class of '67 ended the first half of league play with a perfect 7-0 record to finish three games in front of the second place Sophomores who were 4-3. The Seniors finished third with a 2-5 mark, while the Freshmen came in fourth with one win against six setbacks.

The second half of the schedule, which began this week, found the Juniors maintaining their spotless record as they triumphed over the Freshmen 63-49. Phil Taylor led the Juniors in scoring with 18 points while Mark Koch and John Short each canned eight for the Frosh. The Seniors squeaked by the Sophomores in the other half of the evening twinbill 54-53 in overtime. Dick Curtiss paced the '66'ers with 18 points to take game scoring honors over Soph Paul Seymour who rang up 17 for his team.

The Juniors and Seniors remained unbeaten in second half play as they won over the Sophomore and Freshmen respectively in a Wednesday night doubleheader. The Seniors dropped the Class of '69 57-46 as Dick Curtiss flipped in 22 for the upperclassmen. Tom Kavanaugh popped in 16 for the Frosh. Senior coach-player Kevin Sullivan came off the bench in the late stages of the game and put on a fantastic shooting exhibition for the benefit of the assembled sports fans. Sullivan managed to get off six shots in 67 seconds of play in a great display of ball handling. Sullivan went scoreless on the night.

The Juniors triumphed over the Sophomores 77-52 despite 23 points by Soph Bob Walsh who was six-for-nine from the floor in the second half. Phil Taylor had 15 and Pete Tarrant 12 for the Juniors. Junior Mike Lacadie shot 100% on the night as he went five for five from the floor for 10 points. Lacadie was immediately selected as a future draft pick of the Old Town Comets of the Maine Potato League following the game. Junior coach Bobby Kryger thereupon banned any representative from the Comets from the Fort Gym for six years.

Doubleheaders are scheduled for next Monday and Thursday nights in Interclass action. On Monday night Sophomore coaches Bobby Joyce and Dave Gleason will lead their team against the Seniors and Freshmen coaches Nick Wasuck and Joe Lee will be out to beat the Juniors as both the Class of '68 and of '69 seek their first win in second half play. The Seniors will meet the Juniors and the Sophs will face the Frosh in the Thursday twinbill. All four games will be broadcast over campus radio station WSSE.

Volunteers Organize Track Team

By Jack Schmidt

Last Thursday at 3:30 p.m., a group of Michaelmen met in Alliot Hall with Doc Jacobs in Room 209. The purpose of this meeting was to begin the organization of a St. Michael's track team.

Last year, John Carboneau, Gene Belsole and Ed Volpintesta represented St. Michael's in the Vermont State Meet. Out of a total possibility of 15 points, the three Knights ran up 11.

Because of this fine showing last year, Doc Jacobs has decided to back a group, headed by Bill Schnitzer and Phil Taylor, hoping to enter St. Michael's in all the events of the state meet. The state meet takes place soon after Easter.

Along with the state meet, Doc has arranged a practice meet with Norwich University.

Although Doc is backing the team, he said that all the work must come from the students this year. If they can prove to the administration that track could be a successful intercollegiate sport at St. Michael's, then next year the athletic department would be able to include it in the budget.

This year the team members will have to use their own individual equipment, and also try to borrow some from the local high schools. Practice will start at the beginning of February.

The events of the track team will be - 100, 220, 440, 880 yard dashes; high and low hurdle; the mile, two mile and mile relay; discus; shot; javelin; broad jumping; high jump.

of the many away games sponsored by SMC. Hopefully in the future, students, administration and other outside interests will be able to profit more through the student radio station by increased support of all."

Three freshman basketball games will be broadcast on WSSE. The schedule is as follows:

SMC vs. Dartmouth on Jan. 26 at 4:00 in Ethan Allen gym;

SMC vs UVM on Feb. 3 at 3:00 in Ethan Allen gym;

SMC vs Plattsburgh on Feb.

19 at 3:00 in Ethan Allen gym.

All intramural games will be broadcast from 7:30 to completion.

SMC beats Trinity for 3rd Place

A.I.C. TOURNAMENT

St. Michael's College won its opening round game in the AIC Holiday Basketball Tournament with a come-from-behind 80-78 win over Colby College.

The Knights trailed the Mules 42-31 at halftime, but a full court press and some clutch foul shooting brought the win for St. Michael's.

Dick Falkenbush again led SMC in scoring with 25 points, with six of them being the Knight's last and winning points. Bobby Joyce had 14 and Bobby Kryger 12 for St. Michael's. Jim Dooley came off the bench in the second half to score 10 points and haul down some important rebounds to aid the SMC cause.

Center Peter Swartz led Colby in scoring with 29 points.

Springfield, Trinity, and host school AIC were other first round winners in the tournament, held at the Henry A. Batova Memorial Gymnasium in Springfield, Mass.

SPRINGFIELD BEATS ST. MICHAEL'S

Springfield College defeated St. Michael's 85-70 in the semi-final round of the AIC Holiday Basketball Tournament.

The score was tied 40-40 at halftime, but the Maroons pulled away and won in the second half on the strength of a 27-8 advantage over SMC in points scored at the foul line.

Paul Wagner paced Springfield with 21 points, 9 from the foul line, while Lee Drury had 18 and Larry Buell 15 for the winners.

Bruce Stryhas led St. Michael's in scoring with 21 points, followed by Dick Falkenbush with 19 and Bobby Kryger with 16.

The loss snapped St. Michael's three game winning streak.

AIC beat Trinity 93-89 in the other semi-final game of the tournament.

SMC Places Two On Tournament Teams at A.I.C.

A.I.C. Tournament: All-Tournament Team - 16 votes cast by working press, visiting coaches - six players selected for first team.

Henry Payne, AIC
Dick Falkenbush, St. Michael's
Peter Swartz, Colby
Frank Stronczek, AIC
Jim Belfiore, Trinity
Paul Wagner, Springfield

Others receiving votes - might be considered as honorable mention:

Don Overbeck, Trinity
Lee Drury, Springfield
Larry Buell, Springfield
Terry Carr, Maine
Jim Calhoun, AIC
Bruce Stryhas, St. Michael's
Bob Joyce, St. Michael's

St. Michael's captured third place in the AIC Tournament with a 91-85 win over Trinity College in double-overtime.

AIC won its own tournament by holding off Springfield College for a 74-73 win.

The SMC-Trinity game was tied at the half at 42-42, at the end of regulation time 69-69, and at the end of the first overtime 77-77 before the Knights wrapped it up with some clutch foul-shooting. St. Mike's scored its last 10 points from the foul line in the second overtime. Bobby Joyce made six in a row in this stretch and wound up with 14 points after going scoreless in the first half.

Dick Falkenbush, who led SMC in scoring with 31 points, kept the Knights in the game a number of times with his shooting and rebounding. Ralph Coleman also played a fine game as he popped in 15 points and rebounded well off both boards.

Don Overbeck was Trinity's hero as he led all scorers with 33 points. Jim Belfiore rang up 26 for the Bantams, whose record dropped to seven wins and two losses.

LIU STOPS SMC

Long Island University won its ninth game against but one loss with an 85-68 win over St. Michael's.

The Blackbirds held a 42-27 halftime lead and maintained a 15 to 20 point margin the rest of the way.

Larry Newbold and Lew Ross led LIU in scoring with 16 points apiece, while Dick Falkenbush paced the Knights with 20.

The loss left St. Michael's with a 5-5 record for the year. The game concluded a five game road trip for SMC, on which Coach Ed Markey's charges won three and lost two.

Knights Bow To Adelphi Rebound For Two Wins

By Robert O'Sullivan

St. Michael's lost its third game of the basketball season to Adelphi College 92-77 in a game played at Burlington's Memorial Auditorium.

Steve Sherman and Mark Schissler led a two-pronged attack for Adelphi in St. Michael's home opener. Sherman had 35 points and Schissler 28 to account for two-thirds of the Panthers' scoring.

Dick Falkenbush led SMC with 26 points, while Bobby Kryger and Bruce Stryhas each added 16 in a losing cause.

The loss dropped SMC's record of 1-3. It was the second time in three years that Adelphi spoiled St. Michael's home opener with a win over the Knights. The Panthers also got revenge for a 99-77 loss to the Knights last year in a game at the Long Island school.

a game played at Canton, N.Y.

Dick Falkenbush flipped in 23 points to lead the SMC attack, and Bruce Stryhas threw in 17 and Bobby Joyce 16 for the Knights.

KNIGHTS ROUT MIDDLEBURY

St. Michael's College, down 55-54 with 12 minutes left in the game, exploded in the second half to rout Middlebury 102-79 in the first Vermont State Series contest of the year.

Middlebury led St. Michael's at halftime, but the Knights rolled up 68 points in the second half to win going away.

Three players notched over 20 points for the Knights, with Dick Falkenbush showing the way with 25, Bobby Joyce had 23 and Bobby Kryger 21 for SMC, while Bruce-Stryhas scored all of his 11 points in the second half
